

Oregon State
University

DEANNA PANIATAAQ KINGSTON AWARD GRADUATE TEACHING ASSISTANTSHIP

OSU offers this annual award to a Native American, Alaska Native, Indigenous North American, Native Hawaiian, or Pacific Islander student who seeks a graduate degree in Anthropology at the Master's (MA/MS) or Doctoral (PhD) level.

This award honors the legacy of Dr. Kingston, a descendant of the King Island Native Community (Alaska) and Associate Professor of Anthropology at OSU.

The awardee will receive an academic year Graduate Teaching Assistantship, tuition remission, a stipend (0.49 FTE), and health benefits plus eligibility for additional years as a GTA at .30 FTE.

For more information, visit the Scholarship Opportunities page of the School of Language, Culture & Society website: <https://beav.es/ZE8>

To apply, visit the Prospective Graduate Student page on the OSU Anthropology website: <https://beav.es/ZE7>

QUESTIONS?

Contact Graduate Advisor Dr. Sarah Cunningham
Sarah.Cunningham@oregonstate.edu